Welcome Class of 2018!

Congratulations on your admission to Touro University College of Osteopathic Medicine! We are looking forward to meeting all of you!

One of the most exciting things about your training will be working with patients and perfecting your clinical skills. Basic medical equipment will be required for participation in Doctoring labs, later on rotations, and in a few short years when you’re a physician! Luckily, Touro University is able to offer you a medical equipment package at a discounted price.

- Required: Stethoscope, Ophthalmoscope/Otoscope with specula, blood pressure cuff, tuning forks, reflex hammer, rosenbaum eye chart
- If you order an Ophthalmoscope/Otoscope through Touro, your order comes with a Touro logo medical bag, all the items above (except stethoscope), as well as an insufflator bulb, goniometer, patient gown, EENT guidebook, and practice eye
- A HUGE discount will be given to Touro students if you order through us, but >90% of students need to order to get this rate.
- The school does not provide rental or loan equipment

During orientation on Friday, August 1st, representatives from Welch Allyn and Littmann will be giving you a short presentation and demo of the medical equipment that will be offered to Touro students. You will also have the opportunity to speak with them and ask questions. You are not required to order through the representatives, but it may be more costly.

Attached is a copy of the order form. Please bring the completed order form to orientation. We will be collecting order forms and payment on Friday, August 1st and Monday, August 4th. Please remember to bring your checks, or complete the credit card information. If you check “Hold payment for financial aid”, checks and credit cards will NOT be cashed/charged until financial aid is disbursed.

If you are a military student, please contact Steele Supply Company directly for orders at 1-800-747-1372, or email at order@steeles.com.

A table will be set up on Friday, August 1st to collect orders, and a secure drop box will also be available in the Primary Care Department office on both August 1st and August 4th. Orders must be received by noon on August 4th.

Sincerely,

Dr. Fagan
